—KENTUCKY—

Sit-In Might Grow

Frankfort, Ky. (P)—A civil rights leader Tuesday raised the prospect of "uncontrolled demonstrations" in sympathy with a weary contingent of hunger strikers in the Kentucky House gallery.

The statement was made by Negro attorney Harry McAlpin of Louisville, acting chairman of the Allied Organization for Civil Rights and a member of the state board of education.

"The dignity and public image of Kentucky is seriously at stake," McAlpin said. "Uncontrolled demonstrations may be triggered by the general assembly's refusal to act on public accommodations."

He said that what began at noon Monday as a strong protest by 17 Negroes and six whites could escalate into protests throughout the state.

The band of ministers, housewives and students—ages 15 to 71—was troubled by hunger pangs and headaches, but seemed in good spirits. The men were unshaven.

Frank Stanley, the AOCR chairman and leader of the contingent, indicated he and his colleagues might move across the hall to the senate gallery.

Legislators, who at first reacted with humor and amusement, seemed a bit concerned Tuesday for the health of the protestors. But they held to the belief that the demonstration would not affect any legislative plans.

Has Answer
Referring to a remark by Stanley that the passive resistance philosophy of Ghandi guided the hunger strike, Sen Robert P. Layne, R-Louisville, said:

"This isn't India and Frank Stanley isn't any Mahatma Ghandi. This is Kentucky."

Rep. Richard Frymire, a Madisonville Democrat, said the lawmakers generally believe that Gov. Edward T. Breathitt will call a special session after a federal civil rights bill is passed.

Breathitt tried last week to get the house civil rights measure onto the floor, but was unsuccessful.

4 More Names Added To State's Traffic Toll

United Press International
A total of four names were added to the mounting Nebraska traffic fatality toll Tuesday, three resulting from three separate accidents Tuesday, and the fourth death resulting from accident injuries suffered Sunday.

The Nebraska Safety Patrol said Suzan Gullekson, 47, of Brady, died Tuesday of injuries suffered in a one-car accident on a county road five miles north and two miles east of Brady Sunday.

The patrol said the woman was a passenger in a car which struck a dead end. Driver of the car was identified as Bernard Fransson, 54, also of Brady.

North of Uehling

A foreign exchange student attending the University of Nebraska was killed Tuesday afternoon in a car-truck collision on U.S. 77 a mile north of Uehling. Victim of the accident was Hormoz Hormozli, 26, who had been living at Cather Hall in Lincoln, but whose home was in Tehran, Iran. He had attended NU since 1959.

He died instantly when the rented car he was driving struck head-on a semi-trailer

N.Y. Fireman Rescues Girl

By ARTHUR EVERETT

New York (P)—A fireman's big, rough hand reached ever so gently Tuesday toward the tiny hand of a 6-year-old girl. They finally clasped and the child was pulled to safety from her teetering perch on a 10th floor window ledge of a burning Bronx apartment.

"It was dark as hell," said Fire Capt. John Sweeney, who rescued the youngster unharmed. "I knew it was a matter of time. I probed my way, feeling the wall. I then got on my belly and snaked my way, and then I saw some light and a little hand."

"I pushed forward. I was afraid to frighten her. I reassured her I would help her. I grabbed her little hand, holding it tightly, afraid she might fall if she lost her balance. I brought her in. She was gentle. She whispered, 'Oh, oh,' in gentle tones. 'I put my arms around her and dashed through the fire.'"

Went To Store
The child, Monique Harold, was one of four children left in the apartment while their mother, Mrs. Mildred Harold, went to the store. The youngsters had a St. Patrick's Day holiday from their Roman Catholic School.

Mrs. Harold said her two sons, William, 8, and Thomas, 7, admitted playing with matches during her absence. As flames flared up, the children panicked and William, Thomas, and their 11-year-old sister, Pamela, ran out of the five-room apartment, leaving Monique behind.

Climbed Out
The little girl climbed out on the window ledge to escape the fire, one hand clinging tightly to the sill. One hundred feet below her lay the harsh concrete of St. Ann's Avenue.

"She knew she would be safe for a little while until the firemen rescued her," said the mother. "She just held on tightly to the window sill. She looked down once and was frightened. She didn't look again."

Capt. Sweeney saw the girl when his engine company rolled up to the scene in answer to an alarm. He went to the 10th floor in an elevator. Meanwhile, Mrs. Harold, on her way home, saw her daughter on the ledge.

"The fright choked me," the mother said. "I yelled up, knowing that she didn't hear me, but I yelled anyway as I ran into the building. The elevator was so slow going up."

"And then, as I got on our floor, I saw that brave man carrying my child."

Sweeney's battalion chief, Hal Cold, declared:

"Capt. Sweeney is a brave man—a brave man who acted only as a courageous fireman. But I'm sure he had his grandchildren in mind when he saw that little girl on the window sill."

Sweeney, 27 years a fireman, has three children and two grandchildren.

Exhausted, his face black from smoke, Sweeney was asked if he considered this a good way for a man of his Irish background to celebrate St. Patrick's Day.

"Yes, it sure is," he replied. "But St. Paddy's Day or no, it's a working day for the Irish, particularly if they're firemen."

Australia To Aid Malaysia Arms

Canberra, Australia (P)—The Australian government has decided to provide ammunition, engineering equipment, general stores and various small craft to Malaysia as part of a military aid program.

Defense Minister Paul Hasluck said training courses would also be provided in Australia on a greatly increased scale for Malaysian army, navy and air force personnel during 1964 and 1965.

League Questions CPPD Power Offer

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Members of the special power committee of the utilities section of the League of Nebraska Municipalities Tuesday questioned the legality of Consumers Public Power District's new power supply contract proposal to municipalities.

Lee Blocker, Lincoln's superintendent of utilities and chairman of the group, said he has been informed that the proposal raises at least two legal questions:

—whether it violates original public power statutes which provide that benefits of the operation must be returned to the ratepayer.

More Than Limit
—whether it is asking a municipality to commit itself contractually for more than the 25-year limit now provided in state law.

CPPD's proposal would bind signatories to a 25-year wholesale power contract beginning in 1972 if they chose to acquire their retail distribution systems on that date, Blocker said.

To sign the agreement now might thus tend to bind a city some 33 years, Blocker said. Consumers has offered to pay municipalities which sign the agreement 2% of the gross retail revenues received within their corporate limits from the date of the agreement until Jan. 1, 1972.

If a city chooses not to acquire its retail distribution system in 1972, then CPPD would increase its payment to a minimum of 7% of gross retail revenue.

Rate Reductions
Blocker questioned whether such benefits should instead be reflected in rate reductions.

The League is "offering its services" to municipalities which may wish information on the contract proposal, Blocker said.

The proposal will be discussed at a utilities section meeting in Omaha April 22-23, he noted, and the League will "offer to provide advice" in a series of letters to its members.

CPPD's proposal needs "thorough study," Blocker said, and should not be a subject for "hasty action."

Blocker met Tuesday with other members of the special power committee, representing Grand Island, Hastings, Nebraska City and Fairbury. The North Platte representative member did not attend the meeting.

Churchill Sees

Son In Hospital

London (P)—Sir Winston Churchill, who will be 90 Nov. 30, called on his 53-year-old son, Randolph, at Brompton Hospital Tuesday night.

Randolph, journalist and writer, underwent a lung operation March 9. A hospital statement said Randolph "continues to make progress after his lung operation."

Chiefs Accept Report

... PLEDGE AID

Washington (P)—The United States said Tuesday that South Viet Nam has developed a sound central plan for fighting the Communist Viet Cong involving national mobilization, creation of a highly trained guerrilla force and new equipment.

Full U.S. support was pledged "for as long as it is required to bring Communist aggression and terrorism under control."

And there were indications the United States will provide some increased military and economic aid.

Developments

The White House disclosed these developments in a statement issued Tuesday after Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, reported to the National Security Council on their recent fact-finding trip to South Viet Nam.

The council and Henry Cabot Lodge, U.S. ambassador to South Viet Nam, support the report and President Johnson has accepted its principal recommendations, the statement said.

The war in Viet Nam has been running steadily against South Viet Nam in recent weeks but the statement said significant improvement is possible in the months ahead.

Vigorously

The statement said the South Viet Nam government, headed by Maj. Gen. Nguyen Khanh, is "acting vigorously and effectively" and gave these details of his plans:

—Khanh informed Taylor and McNamara he will put into effect in the near future a national mobilization program establishing conditions and terms of service in appropriate jobs for all able-bodied South Vietnamese within certain age limits. The limits were not disclosed.

—"In addition steps are required to bring up to required levels the pay and status of paramilitary forces and to create a highly trained guerrilla force that can beat the Viet Cong on its own ground," the statement said.

Significant

—"Limited but significant" additional equipment for the air force, river navy and mobile forces is proposed.

The statement added that "where the South Vietnamese government now has the power to clear any part of its territory, Gen. Khanh's new program is designed to clear and to hold, step by step and province by province."

Substantial increases in the cost to the South Vietnamese economy, heavily supported by U.S. economic aid, are involved, the statement said.

And it noted that there is need, in less substantial amounts, for military assistance funds and increased U.S. training activity on both the civilian and military sides.

Arrival Of More Canadians Helps Ease Fear On Cyprus

Nicosia, Cyprus (P)—More Canadian soldiers flew in Tuesday as the van of a U.N. peace force, easing renewed fears that Turkey might create an explosive crisis by landing troops on this angry island.

The guns of the rival Greek and Turkish Cypriot communities remained silent, although the issues that divide them still blaze.

In Athens, a Greek government source said that with the buildup of the U.N. peace force, there was no cause for immediate concern.

He was referring to the fact that Turkey's parliament Monday gave Premier Ismet Inonu full powers to take action in the Cyprus crisis. This action came at a time when tension over Cyprus began easing in capitals of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Indicative of the mood in Athens was the fact that a three-day NATO Naval exercise involving Greek and Turkish warships along with British, American, French, Italian and West German units ended Monday with almost no comment in the Greek press.

During the series of anti-American demonstrations over Cyprus earlier this month, a scheduled visit to Athens by units of the U.S. 6th Fleet was canceled.

In Ankara, Inonu told reporters his government will use all means at its disposal to protect Turkish Cypriots "within the framework of wisdom, logic and law."

"If the United Nations force insures security and order on the island," he added, "we are not going to interfere. Should, however, these conditions not be met it will be our duty to guarantee the security of the life and property of Turks on the island."

In the east coast Cypriot port of Famagusta, several hundred Greek Cypriot high school students paraded with banners saying: "U.N. soldiers, welcome to this green island." "We want to live in peace," and "We ask for peace but the answer is war."

Actually, the presence of the Canadians on this eastern Mediterranean island so far can have only a psychological effect. They have not yet gone on duty because their orders have not yet been received from the United Nations.

Contract To

Cool Capitol

Is Awarded

Natkin & Co. of Lincoln

Tuesday was awarded a contract for $809,593 to air-condition major portions of the State Capitol.

The Capitol Building Commission last month requested State Engineer John Hossack to negotiate a contract with Natkin, the low bidder, to air-condition as much of the building as available funds will allow.

Natkin's bid was $1,149,859, but the state had only $800,000 available for the project.

The five areas omitted for the present are the tower, the first and second floors of the northeast quadrant, the East Senate Chamber and Lounge, the Law Library, and certain rooms which already have air-conditioning units.

By negotiation, the contractor also will delete for the present the Supreme Court hearing room, and the Statehouse restaurant and kitchen.

The contract is set up on a partially open-end basis so the state can add deletions up to 90 days without a change in the bid-price, or by March 1, 1965 with adjusted bid price.

The contract specifies that the project must be completed by June 1, 1965, and that the heating must be restored by October 10 of this year.

Work is to begin immediately.

Show Biz, Prague Style, Draws Four-Star Rating

By NANCY RAY

Outstate Nebraska Bureau
Prague—"OOMPAH HICKS TRICKS CLICKS."

That's the way big-time entertainment jargon might explain what happened to Adolph Nemetz and his 7-man polka band.

Nemetz (he changed it from Nemec so everyone could pronounce it) has been playing the Saturday night ballroom circuit for less than three years, but that didn't bother Billboard Magazine judges when they heard his first record album and rated it with four stars—the second highest rating possible and the first of any kind ever tendered a Nebraska polka band by Billboard.

Those coveted four stars in the national entertainment magazine are only given to "new albums with sufficient commercial potential in their category to merit being stocked by most dealers."

The hit album which drew the rare rating from Billboard is called "Dance the Polka" and announces on its cover that it contains polkas, and an occasional waltz, played "in the jet age manner."

Some of the numbers are originals and some carry catchy titles such as "Itchy Polka" and "Nameless Polka."

But the Prague farmer isn't planning on giving up his 160-acre farm and retiring on his four stars. For one reason, stars won't go far in paying the grocery bill for six—soon to be seven—Nemetz youngsters and his wife, Gladys.

Members
Other members of the "four-star" band are: Leo Piltz and Don Horacek, both of Brainard, Gawaine Dvorak of Wahoo, Dick Pascal of Weston, and Herman Liska and Lumir Vajgrt, both of Lincoln.

Nemetz, 40, admits that "it is still kind of hard to believe" that a big name like Billboard took time to listen and like his polkas. He figures that part of the success is because his band is young and struggling.

"You have to struggle to be any good," he summed up.

GOP Claims 'Someone' Running Baker Probe

... FROM BEHIND THE SCENES

Washington (AP) — Republicans charged Tuesday that "someone" is running the Bobby Baker investigation from behind the scenes.

The charge was voiced by two GOP members after a closed meeting of the Senate Rules Committee broke up without acting on their demand that White House aide Walter Jenkins and others be called as witnesses.

Chairman B. Everett Jordan, D-N.C., said he recessed the session to consider what to do about "some very serious accusations" which he said the Republicans made on the Senate floor Monday involving his integrity.

Instructions Sens. Carl T. Curtis, R-Neb., and Hugh Scott, R-Pa., disclaimed any attack on Jordan's integrity but insisted to newsmen that the chairman was acting under instructions in what they described as efforts to halt the inquiry.

Scott, who termed the Baker probe "one of the most sordid scandals in recent memory," said the next step evidently is "up to the Democrats and whoever is telling them."

"I am satisfied," Scott said, that the committee is in recess because "the chairman wants to discuss this matter with someone."

Asked if he was saying that someone outside the committee was telling its Democratic members what to do, Scott replied:

"I believe exactly that." He declined to be more specific, but told a corridor news conference he believes that Jordan and the other Democrats want time to "talk to whoever they are getting instructions from."

Meanwhile an Internal Revenue spokesman confirmed that the special IRS investigative unit is making an inspection to determine whether IRS employees tampered with some of Baker's income tax returns.

The IRS spokesman said that where there is a possibility of improper actions by employees, the special investigative unit looks into the matter.

Scott and Curtis charged in Senate speeches Monday, on the eve of what was to have been a showdown meeting of the rules committee on whether to wind up the hearings, that the Democrats are trying to whitewash the Baker probe.

Democrats replied that the Republicans are making last ditch efforts to drag out the hearings for political purposes.

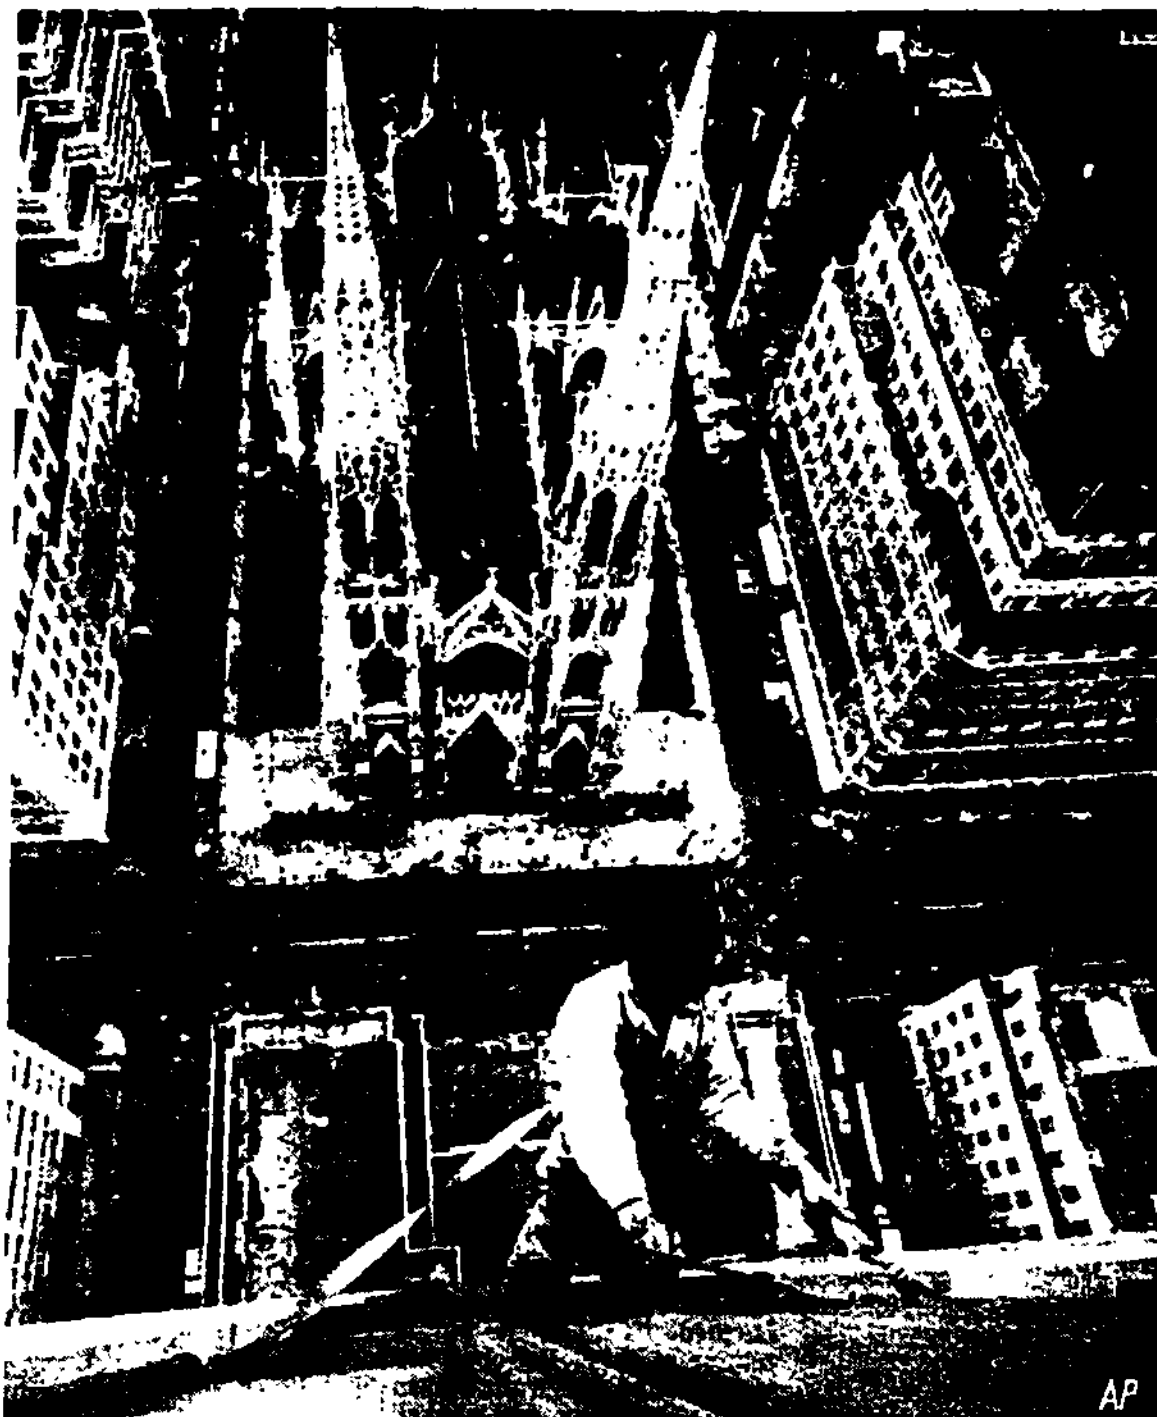

The investigation has produced evidence indicating that Baker, who was a $19,600-a-year secretary to the Senate's Democratic majority until he resigned under fire last Oct. 7, had rolled up a fortune he estimated at more than $2 million in numerous outside business ventures.

Scott told the Senate that further hearings would show that Baker and others "used their influence with government agencies" and that the agencies "jumped at his command."

Irish Envoy Gives Presents To LBJ, Jackie

Washington (AP) — Irish ambassador Thomas J. Kiernan presented St. Patrick's Day gifts Tuesday to President Johnson and Mrs. John F. Kennedy and planted shamrocks on President Kennedy's grave in Arlington National Cemetery.

The ambassador called at the White House to give John son a handmade Waterford crystal bowl decorated with shamrocks. It was engraved with Johnson's initials.

The ambassador drove earlier to the home of Mrs. Kennedy. Then he joined her and the late President's brother, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, in a pilgrimage to the Kennedy grave.

A year ago, Kiernan presented President Kennedy with a Waterford vase engraved with a picture of James Hoban, architect of the White House, and an etching of the early White House. "I told him last year," the ambassador told reporters, "I would bring him a companion piece this year."

This was the gift to Mrs. Kennedy. Kiernan said it is engraved with a likeness of Commodore John Barry, of County Wexford, the ancestral home of the Kennedy family. Barry was known there as the father of the American Navy. The vase also depicts Barry's frigate Alliance. Kiernan said.

At the Kennedy grave, the ambassador planted shamrocks from the garden of the Irish presidential residence in Dublin. He said that at the time of the Kennedy funeral, he had arranged with President Eamon de Valera to grow these shamrocks and they were delivered here a fortnight ago. The shamrocks will become part of the sod at the Kennedy grave, Kiernan said. They were planted in the form of a cross, he said, and Mrs. Kennedy is arranging for four more pots of shamrocks to be planted to form a circle around the cross.

This will make a Celtic cross, the ambassador said, with the circle standing for eternity and eternal life that comes from the cross. Mrs. Kennedy, he said, put on the grave Tuesday a shamrock corsage he had given her earlier at her residence.

Parade Goes On Without Stripe

New York (AP) — Sons and daughters of Erin and many an Irishman-for-a-day—Americans all—marched by the thousands Tuesday in a lilting St. Patrick's Day parade. They didn't seem to mind that Fifth Avenue's traditional green center stripe for the event was white this year.

With American flags and school pennants waving, they strode briskly to the gay tunes of bands and fife and drum corps under skies that alternately were overcast and sunny.

Other thousands upon thousands crammed the sidewalks to applaud the marchers—Irish, non-Irish, white and Negro, Italian, Polish, Puerto Rican and virtually all elements of the melting pot metropolis.

"It's not only a great day for the Irish but for everybody," commented Francis Cardinal Spellman, one of the notables reviewing the procession.

The city, which formerly had painted the center stripe green, decided to dispense with color schemes because of cost in money and manpower when other groups wanted their favorite hues painted for their parades.

The parade marshal, the Rev. Sean S. Read of the Order of Carmelites, cast an eye at the overcast and commented:

"I prefer to look at blue skies instead of a green line."

Mayor Robert F. Wagner, usually a fixture at the parade, was absent this time because his wife, Susan, died recently.

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, busy with legislative affairs in Albany, also was missing.

President Johnson did not attend the parade, but arranged to arrive in New York later in the day for a dinner sponsored by the Friendly Sons of St. Patrick.

A slight drizzle fell from time to time despite an earlier Weather Bureau prediction that "currently it looks as if the luck of the Irish is holding up."

NEW AFFLUENCE BRIGHTENS EMERALD ISLE CELEBRATION

Dublin (AP) — The Irish plunged into their annual bout of St. Patrick's Day jollification Tuesday conscious of a bright new stranger abroad in the land of the leprechauns.

The name of the newcomer was affluence. His presence was stamped on merry-making across the Emerald Isle—from the jangling cash registers of Dublin to countryside revels in brightly painted barns.

As usual, the centerpiece of the celebrations was the industrial parade through the heart of Dublin.

More colorful than ever this year, it reflected a booming industry, an accelerating export drive and cash nestling comfortably in the ordinary man's pocketbook.

Another theme of the celebrations was Ireland's growing status in international affairs. Prominent in the military prayers and parades were the soldiers who have volunteered for service with the United Nations peace force in Cyprus.

Trumpler Given Dillard Award

Omaha (UPI)—Gen. Thomas S. Power, SAC commander, presented the Paul A. Dillard award for 1963 to Maj. Donald E. Trumpler earlier this month, SAC announced Tuesday.

The award goes annually to the most effective transportation squadron within the command's installations in this country.

Trumpler commands the 340th Transportation Squadron at Bergstrom Air Force Base, Tex. The award is named for Capt. Paul A. Dillard who served as traffic management officer at Dyess AFB, Tex., from July, 1956, until his death in an automobile accident in 1958.

California Firemen Check Brush Fires

Los Angeles (AP)—Twelve hundred men, fighting diminishing but still dangerous winds on the hottest day of the year, checked two disastrous brush fires Tuesday and battled to quell another still raging on a two-mile front.

Gov. Edmund G. Brown toured two fire-ravaged foothill areas after proclaiming the county a disaster area because of the multi-million-dollar fires that broke out early Monday morning.

Authorities announced that the two fires a dozen miles north of downtown Los Angeles were checked, though not contained or controlled, Tuesday morning.

They are in Glendale's Verdugo Hills, where about 7,000 acres were blackened, and San Rafael Hills, with 2,500 acres seared.

The third fire was uncontrolled some 20 miles to the northwest, with 2,500 acres charred. Starting in the Newhall-Saugus area Monday, it burned to within about a mile of the community of Granada Hills. County firemen said its hot spot was a two-mile western front about a half mile from a crude oil tank farm.

The tanks were scattered and brush was well cleared away, a county fireman said, but "it could be quite a hazard."

The Los Angeles County Fire Department reported 23 homes, many in the $100,000 class, were destroyed and 7 damaged in the Glendale area fires.

LBJ Urges Passage Of New Pay Raise Bill

Washington (AP) — President Johnson urged Congress Tuesday to vote for a federal pay raise bill—even if its members have to postpone their own $10,000 boost to do so.

The House defeated a $545-million all-inclusive pay bill last week when opponents forced a roll call vote. Many congressmen were reluctant to go on record during an election year in favor of a bill that included a raise for themselves.

Johnson, in letters to House Speaker John W. McCormack, D-Mass., and Senate President Pro Tem Carl Hayden, D-Ariz., Tuesday, said that,

"If congressmen feel they should postpone increasing their salaries until next year, even though they are most deserving of an increase in pay, there is no reason to postpone equitable and just action for others who serve the government and the nation."

The defeated bill included raises for 1.7 million employees in the executive, legislative, and judicial branches of the federal government. A new measure with such pay boosts but leaving out members of Congress was introduced Monday.

Johnson said that if Congress does not enact the pay bill, it would "impair my efforts to achieve true economy in government."

"It is false economy," the President wrote, "to offer salaries that will attract the mediocre but repel the talented."

Sec. Freeman Urges 'Wait And See' Policy

... In Heated Exchange With Hruska On Meat Imports

Washington (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman urged Congress Tuesday to not impose meat import quotas but to wait and see if voluntary limitations worked out with Australia and New Zealand will prop up U.S. prices.

But Sen. Roman L. Hruska, R-Nebr., told Freeman "The farmers' toes are being stepped on by these imports. The farmer cannot go broke."

The exchange between Freeman and Hruska, somewhat heated, came at a Senate Appropriations Subcommittee hearing on money for the Agriculture Department. The Senate Finance Committee is holding hearings on a proposal to impose quotas on beef, veal and mutton.

Stockmen Testify

The finance group heard testimony from Montana, South Dakota and Wyoming livestock men. All urged approval saying imports are cutting deeply into the American market. Some urged that the quotas be based on the 1959-62 average instead of the 1959-63 average as proposed.

In New York, Sir Howard Beale, the Australian ambassador, said in a prepared speech that imposing quotas would "mean that a solemn agreement entered into between two governments in good faith would be nullified." He said "the Australian government and people will find this hard to understand."

The State and Agriculture Departments recently negotiated voluntary agreements with Australia and New Zealand to limit meat exports to this country to the average for 1962-63 and to provide for 3.7% increases for 1965 and 1966.

Freeman told the Finance Subcommittee that the cut-back in the agreements for this year—about 6%—is not as much as he sought but was as much as the United States could get.

If the situation does not improve after the agreements are given a chance, he said, he would take another look a year from now.

Freeman said negotiations on trade agreements are to start within a few months and Congressional-imposed quotas "would not be in the interest of cattlemen at this time."

The secretary said there are reports that 15% of the drop in meat prices to cattlemen was caused by imports while 85% was due to an increase in domestic production of cattle.

He said export of U.S. farm goods now is at a level of about $6 billion whereas imports of beef amount to $350 million.

"Feeling In Midwest"

In the exchange between Hruska and Freeman, the senator said American cattlemen were hit hard by a sharp increase in meat imports and some are going bankrupt. Freeman accused Hruska of making a political speech.

Hruska replied: "I resent that very much. This is not a political speech. That is the feeling of the people in the Midwest."

Witnesses before the Finance Committee in favor of tacking the quotas onto a House-passed tariff bill included: Merton Glover, Rapid City, S.D., South Dakota Stock Growers Association; M. Joseph Burke, Casper, Wyo., president of the Wyoming Wool Growers Association; Dean Prosser Jr., Cheyenne, Wyo., secretary of the Wyoming Stock Growers Association; Robert Batheless, president of the Montana Stock Growers Association.

County Board Renews Its Stand On Site Vote

Lancaster County Commissioners Tuesday reaffirmed their stand that the location of the proposed city-county building should go to the voters after several persons appeared before the board to voice their opinions on the issue.

Mrs. Wallace C. Peterson, president of the League of Women Voters, said the league feels that only the issue of a city-county building should go to the voters while the decision on the location should be left to the governing bodies.

She said that placing the location issue on the ballot would "tend to divert attention from the principal issue," and would "tend to divide the voters into two camps—one favoring one location and one favoring another."

Leo Bartunek agreed with the stand of the County Board. He emphasized the importance of putting the location issue to the voters.

He said the reason the joint building proposal failed in 1956 was because the voters had too many unanswered questions, including that of the location.

Representatives of the Freedom Volunteers and the Citizens Movement for Human Rights stated they are opposed to a joint building but would favor new separate city and county buildings.

Mrs. Elinor Brown stated that the city council and the board should "stop wrangling" and plan separate buildings.

She proposed that the ballot should include a means whereby the voters could vote "yes" or "no" on separate city and county buildings as well as on a combined unit.

They Resembled Greatgrandsons Of Emerald Isle

Summary of Conditions

A weak but slowly deepening low pressure area centered over north central Montana is moving eastward and should be over central North Dakota by Wednesday afternoon. The stationary front which currently lies through north central Montana, southwestern South Dakota, and western Nebraska, curving east through central Kansas and west across southern Missouri will move east as a warm front across central North Dakota, eastern South Dakota and extreme western Iowa by Wednesday afternoon. Air will continue dry at all times. Weak high pressure will continue to weaken over the western plateau, however, some air will move east across the Rockies, mixing with some weak southerly breezes from Texas Friday.

This means that skies will be generally partly cloudy in Nebraska and western Iowa Wednesday with the clouds generally rather high. It will be warmer over the area with no precipitation expected.

Nebraska Temperatures

Hastings Claims Civil Rights Moral, Not Partisan Issue

Washington (AP)—A Nebraska attorney and church leader said Tuesday a group of 100 to 150 church leaders from various parts of the nation are here in an effort to show Congress the civil rights bill is a moral and not a partisan issue.

George Hastings of Grant, Neb., a leader in the United Church of Christ, told the Nebraska congressional delegation that the House is being commended for its courageous stand in passing the civil rights measure and the Senate is being urged to "make this stand."

If it is a question between human rights and property rights, he said, human rights should prevail.

Warren Fairchild, Lincoln, executive secretary of the Nebraska Soil and Water Conservation Service, told of efforts to explain a plan of integrating local districts in soil and water conservation programs.

Also at a breakfast meeting of the Nebraskans were Merion England of North Platte, president of the Nebraska Association of Soil Conservation Districts, and Milton Fricke of Papillion, a director of the National Association of Conservation Districts.

Dr. Eppright spoke at the annual meeting of the Dairy Council of Lincoln at the Nebraska Center.

County Board Renews Its Stand On Site Vote

Lancaster County Commissioners Tuesday reaffirmed their stand that the location of the proposed city-county building should go to the voters after several persons appeared before the board to voice their opinions on the issue.

Mrs. Wallace C. Peterson, president of the League of Women Voters, said the league feels that only the issue of a city-county building should go to the voters while the decision on the location should be left to the governing bodies.

She said that placing the location issue on the ballot would "tend to divert attention from the principal issue," and would "tend to divide the voters into two camps—one favoring one location and one favoring another."

Leo Bartunek agreed with the stand of the County Board. He emphasized the importance of putting the location issue to the voters.

He said the reason the joint building proposal failed in 1956 was because the voters had too many unanswered questions, including that of the location.

Representatives of the Freedom Volunteers and the Citizens Movement for Human Rights stated they are opposed to a joint building but would favor new separate city and county buildings.

Mrs. Elinor Brown stated that the city council and the board should "stop wrangling" and plan separate buildings.

She proposed that the ballot should include a means whereby the voters could vote "yes" or "no" on separate city and county buildings as well as on a combined unit.

Fools Rush In

By WILLIAM

City and county officials should be careful that they not end up as fools rushing in where angels would not tread. They seem dangerously close to doing so in the matter of a proposed new city-county building. It is well to remember at this point that we have talked for more than a decade about a city-county building and another year one way or another is not about to do irreparable harm.

Wisdom at this point would seem to be in the direction of more time as opposed to any quick public vote on the matter of a location for the new building. Signs are that agreement on the City Council and between the council and County Board on the matter of location is all but impossible to come by. Some want the new building erected at 10th and J, site of the existing Courthouse, and some want the new building at 15th and O, the site recommended by city planners and downtown development consultants. It is doubtful that there are sufficient facts known to form the basis for an intelligent decision at this time.

For one thing, no one knows really how much land will be needed. Some have talked about a single square block and other suggestions have run clear up to four square blocks. Certainly, it is essential that a determination be made first as to exactly how much land is needed.

This means that there will have to be work done on a variety of plans — a building that goes up rather than out and vice versa. And the matter of parking will have to be studied as it will make a land requirement of its own. Once these building choices are fixed, then a site can be discussed.

In discussing a site, there must be a good appraisal available of the alternate locations. It is possible, too, that other factors could be brought into the picture. In connection with the 15th and O location, there is the matter of parking that could serve a variety of demands. The parking that served a city-county building at that location might also serve the auditorium and could further serve as public parking such as that provided by many other municipalities. A block of land devoted to a parking garage, for instance, could provide one whole of a lot of parking. And how far have we examined the possibilities in this respect?

Is it not possible that between government and private interests, there could be developed a parking garage at 15th and O that would serve all interests, and, perhaps, be of very little cost to the taxpayers? There are private groups that might well be interested in such a venture and there is every possibility of working it out for meeting all needs, both public and private. Nor has anyone looked at the possibility of retaining O Street frontage as space for lease to private business. This is something that could well serve a variety of useful ends. It could give the city additional office space and perhaps even retail sales space while offsetting the public cost of a new city-county building and parking area.

We do a lot of talking about public and private cooperation — why not give it an honest look in this case? It is possible that O Street frontage could be reserved on both sides of the street between 15th and 16th for lease to private interests, thereby paying the people back a substantial part of the investment they would make in the land there.

A development between N and O, 15th and 16th can be envisioned that would be a tremendous asset to Lincoln both from the public and private points of view. And the more benefit we can find, the better off we are. Such a development, too, would serve as a substantial incentive for a wholesale modernization of the downtown core area of the city, a well recognized need.

In connection with the city-county building itself, we have not yet even decided the matter of a new jail and courts. It is quite possible that we would not want a jail or the courts in the new government office building. In short, it seems that there are many avenues to explore and that a vote on any question at the May election would now be premature. There are the questions raised here and there would be many more questions raised and possibilities to be explored if a citizens group were to tackle the issue.

Why not appoint such a citizens group of city and county representatives to explore this subject in detail? Or, the existing City-County Building Authority could be used for this purpose. Any such endeavor, of course, would call for a small appropriation and a deadline of six to eight months for submission of a final report and recommendations. We need and the people expect an intelligent approach to this matter, not a series of popularity contests at the polls.

Lesson From Omaha

It is indeed unfortunate that Omaha finds itself in such a state of controversy that recall actions are in the works against the city's mayor and, reportedly, one member of the City Council. The entire state of Nebraska can be assured that there are no benefits for anyone to be reaped as a result of the municipal government difficulties of the state's largest city.

But other cities can take a lesson from Omaha. The situation in Omaha has gotten progressively worse to the point where it appears impossible for the different factions involved even to meet in public without a major argument ensuing. All the broken pieces of Omaha city government are not likely to be put together again for quite a long time.

A city arrives at this point when too many people adopt a selfish attitude and refuse to consider all points of view. It arrives at this point when officials and influential people give too much weight to their own special interests as opposed to the welfare and greater good of the entire community.

You don't have to put your finger on the rights and wrongs of the controversy in Omaha to know the basic deficiencies from which this controversy stems. Nor is there any set formula, any definite rules, that can be laid down in black and white for avoiding the kind of controversy that has wracked our Missouri River neighbor.

Only when everyone acts intelligently and in the best interest of the community can violent conflict be avoided. It is one thing to disagree and have an issue out but it is quite another to refuse all negotiation and compromise.

Called Upon To Act

The coordinating committee for Fundamental American Freedom's, Inc., has launched an advertising campaign against the Civil Rights Bill.

It prefers the name of "Socialist Omnibus Bill" and labels it a dictatorial, $100 billion blackjack.

It asserts the bill contains 43 instances, all listed, in which the American citizen's fundamental rights are denied, calculated to give the President dictatorial powers, aided and abetted by the U.S. Attorney General and a host of capricious federal appointees.

This is an indictment of heroic proportions which if taken at face value would be sufficient to send every American to either the battlefields or to the hills. The least it expects to do is to marshal a good deal of pressure mail on congressmen and senators to deliver us all from the dreadful threat.

If this militant tocsin is in behalf of the American citizenry, it is not in behalf of all of it. The racial minorities which are also composed of citizens are apparently the enemy. The bill proposes to enforce in a number of specific instances some of the rights, presumably granted to all citizens, to minorities which presently are denied them by prejudice or by indifference.

The organization calling itself Fundamental American Freedom's, Inc., could well reflect that if it was as diligent in obtaining the freedoms from these minorities as it is in denying them, there would be no civil rights bill. One would not be needed.

In all it is a sorry estimation of country to imply that it has to be blackjacked into doing the things it sets up as national ideals.

It Is The Law Itself

The Legislative Council's Intangible Tax Study Committee, headed by Sen. Kenneth Bowen of Red Cloud, is delving seriously into the problems presented by the tax.

Initial hearings indicate the committee's study may center on the value of the law itself, rather than the effectiveness and enforcement of the law. This could be good.

The intangible tax law was irrationally conceived. Its inbuilt features operate

De Gaulle Begins Western Invasion

FORT-DE-FRANCE, Martinique — This sun-soaked, sugar-sweet French island is all primed, premed and polished in preparation for President Charles de Gaulle's so-called invasion of America.

It was not always thus. Twenty years ago Martinique's wealthy plantation owners lined up with Vichy and gave protection to the aircraft carrier Bearn whose 100 planes worried the U.S. protectors of the Panama Canal.

But today the French West Indies are proud of the man they once snubbed and berated as leader of the "so-called Free French." Martinique is more modern than the slightly down-at-the-heel British segment of the West Indies and the French are hailing the man who is the leading revival of French influence in the Western Hemisphere.

It was just one hundred years ago that the last French invasion of the Western Hemisphere took place when Emperor Maximilian, an Austrian married to the sister of Napoleon III, tried to stem the march of republican governments on behalf of the crowned heads of Europe. Republicanism was as great a threat to monarchies as communism is to republicanism today, and just as the United States sent troops to Murmansk and Siberia when Russia was prostrated by the Bolshevik revolution in 1917-18, so the monarchies sent Emperor Maximilian, backed by a French fleet, to Mexico when the United States was prostrated by its civil war.

The French fleet, after installing Maximilian as emperor of Mexico, proceeded to empty its cannon balls into the cliffs of Martinique in order to save taking them back to France. The cliffs outside Fort-De-France are still pockmarked with those scars of one hundred years ago.

Conservative Panamanian newspaper owners have been trying to call off their hate-America campaign before it boomerangs against their own country. But they have discovered they cannot control the Castro-communist editors and columnists who have infiltrated the Panama press corps. French diplomats are complaining privately that President de Gaulle's recognition of Red China gave the Chinese a great boost in world prestige without gaining any advantages in return. Last month, the Chinese rewarded him with a diplomatic slap in the face. They gave his new charge d'affaires, Claude Chayel, a cool, aloof reception. A Roumanian delegation, in defiance of Russia, has offered to sell oil to the Chinese communists. This could save Red China's military face. Since the Soviet squeeze on oil, the Chinese army's trucks, tanks, and planes had come to a virtual standstill.

BIBLE WORDS THAT GUIDE ME

Master, which is the great commandment in the law? Jesus said unto him, Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind. This is the first and great commandment. And the second is like unto it, Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself. On these two commandments hang all the law and the prophets.

By LEWIS W. JONES
President, The National Conference of Christians and Jews, U.S.A.

In this statement Jesus makes unmistakably clear the great affirmation that all men must make. We must cast aside all idols and tribal gods and superstitions in devotion to the one God of the universe. This is the everlasting "aye"—"the will to believe"—"the ultimate concern."

The second commandment to love thy neighbor requires first that man—made in the image of God—must have dignity and self-respect before he can properly love his neighbor. Thus the dignity of man derives from the love of God and unites all mankind in a brotherhood of mutual love and respect.

The first and second commandments are the fulfillment of Jewish religious experience and create a common bond between Christians and Jews. They encompass and transcend all religious wisdom.

Dr. Lewis Webster Jones accepted the presidency of the National Conference of

Lewis W. Jones

Christians and Jews in 1958. Those who knew him well were not surprised, for the central focus of Dr. Jones' career as educator, university president and governmental adviser, over the past three decades, had been upon public affairs and social welfare.

In many addresses, articles and reviews during that period, he enunciated his strong conviction about the vital interplay of religion and politics in our American democracy and called for the translation of religious and moral principles into practical civic action.

For eight years prior to becoming president of NCCJ, Dr. Jones headed Rutgers University and supervised its reorganization into a state university. From 1947 to 1951 he was president of the University of Arkansas (which he integrated racially a decade which is still integrated), and from 1932 until 1947 he was at Bennington College, first as an economics professor and later, for six years, as president.

During these years, Dr. Jones was in and out of Washington almost continually on many important special assignments for the United States Government. An expert mediator, he was enlisted to settle labor disputes in vital industries in New England during World War II. Later, Dr. Jones served as a member of various Presidential commissions.

Phone Calls

Lincoln, Neb.
Telephone advertising has sunk to a new low since resorting to records played into the answering victim's ear. Perhaps we, the housewives, should all call the business that uses such tactics immediately after they bother us. Think what splendid ringing their phones would do! We could use our "legal" telephone rights and tell them we refuse to buy any product that persists in nuisance campaigns.

There are over 300 businesses in this area that use telephone solicitations. Perhaps turn-about would be fair play. Surely a self-respecting business cannot feel it is making friends by using such disgusting, bothersome tactics on potential customers.

So, come on, gals, invade, day sleepers. Busy moms. Let's use the "dial-em-back" system after we have been bothered!

Insurance Plan

Lincoln, Neb.
I have been reading The Star for over 40 years and have often thought of writing a note for the letter column, but haven't. But after reading the item about Mr. Steen who is going to take $100,000 in the next 10 years to buy life insurance for 274 of his friends and employees, I just had to sit down and speak my mind.

I feel Mr. Steen has done a good job with the money he had and I was in favor of raising the hunting and fishing license fees to better our hunting and fishing. I buy hunting, fishing, deer, antelope, turkey and boat licenses, but sure hate to buy life insurance for state employees.

I'm in favor of paying them good salaries and also in favor of pensions for them, but I believe they should buy their own cars, life insurance and any other benefits they desire. I have just made a trip to Phoenix, Arizona, and after seeing so many nice roadside parks, I think we could use the money in Nebraska for same.

Teddy And Bryan

Holdrege, Neb.
I recall vividly when Governor Theodore Roosevelt and William Jennings Bryan visited Nebraska during the presidential campaign in the autumn of 1900. The governor of New York was a candidate for vice president and Nebraska's "Boy Orator" of the Platte, who had completed a term as congressman in the lower house and had been defeated once for the office of president, was again a candidate for president.

Of course, they did not travel together but spoke from the rear end of a train, especially chartered for their campaign speeches. They traveled all over the state. They were quite different types of men.

President McKinley was running for his second term and he had favored the young governor of New York because he was young and vigorous and had been a colonel in the Spanish-American War. Governor Roosevelt was practically unknown outside of his own state. We did not know him as "Teddy" nor "T.R." He wore the pince-nez type of eyeglasses, wore a moustache, presumably to make him look older than his 43 years. He wore a cutaway coat, black, and striped pants. He had a lay-down collar and a four-in-hand tie. A high silk hat should have completed such an attire, but the governor wore his army hat, making him a bit out of character. His talk was different from any we young native Nebraskans had ever heard. He dropped his "r's" like FDR was to do much later. Little did anyone think that within a year this young man would be president!

McKinley, who was over 50 years old in 1900, was considered more seasoned and mature to be president than Bryan, who was 40 years old.

We had never heard such a voice as we heard when William Jennings Bryan came to town. He spoke from the bandstand on the courthouse square. A bad boy had climbed a tree near the stand and every time Bryan was applauded, he would shout: "Hurrah for McKinley!" Had McKinley known, he would have disapproved and would not have been pleased with such rough support.

This raises the question of what rights. It would seem that the officer in the name-calling incident lost the right not to be called derogatory names and not be subjected to disrespectful treatment (everyone possesses this right).

A suggestion of proper conduct was in order in this situation and someone should perform that duty. Usually the "niceties" of human conduct that lacks criminal import are handled by parents, chaperones, supervisors or sponsors in charge, which in this instance was lacking. In that case, it was proper for the officer to be "fatherly" for a while to the impolite youngster.

Pending Bill Would Boost U.S. Hospital Aid

Federal grants for construction of hospitals and hospital-related facilities under the Hill-Burton program will be increased 10% if a bill now in Congress passes intact, State Hospital Division Chief Verne Pangborn said Tuesday.

But this won't come close to meeting Nebraska's burgeoning needs, Pangborn told the Associated Press.

"Nebraska would need a 50% increase to keep pace with the demands for new hospitals and hospital-related facilities," he said.

U.S. Aid For 3rd City Home Seen

State Institutions Director George Morris Monday expressed confidence federal assistance and legislative approval will be forthcoming for a proposed new $1.6 million hospital at the Soldiers' and Sailors' Home in Grand Island.

Gov. Frank Morrison last week urged President Johnson to use his influence to get out of a Senate Committee a bill which would provide 50% matching funds for construction at state veterans homes.

Morris predicted it would be enacted if it gets to the Senate floor. The House previously passed it.

Senate bill 2531, will be discussed at the next meeting of the Hospital Advisory Council here April 16.

The present act provides $150 million for hospitals and $70 million for related construction such as diagnostic and treatment centers, nursing homes and rehabilitation facilities.

The proposed new law would add $10 million a year to the hospital category until it reaches $186 million annually by 1967. It would also appropriate $100 million yearly for the other facilities.

Nebraska was allotted $1,759,347 for hospital construction and $1,209,245 for related work in the current fiscal year.

FEDERAL AID SLASH IS FELT IN HEALTH DEPT.

Five divisions of the State Health Department have been notified their programs may be curtailed in the fiscal year beginning July 1 as a result of a 30% reduction in general health appropriations from the federal government.

Dr. E. A. Rogers, State health director, said the affected divisions would include health education, public health nursing, laboratory, sanitation and health mobilization services divisions.

State Health Board members, to whom the word was passed, said "the pattern would have to be cut to the cloth" if the federal funds fall off and the state does not make up the dollar difference.

Governor Wants Road Conditions Considered

Gov. Frank Morrison has recommended that the State Highway Advisory Commission consider the condition of roads in western Nebraska as well as traffic in determining priorities for future construction of the Interstate west of North Platte.

The commission will be holding hearings outside this summer to sound out local sentiment.

"In our hearings this summer we'll ask the Highway Commission to make a thorough investigation of the condition of those highways in the vicinity of the Interstate and evaluate priorities on the basis of the highway condition as well as the amount of traffic," the governor said.

He referred specifically to the condition of U.S. 30 between Big Springs and Sidney and between Kimball and the Wyoming line.

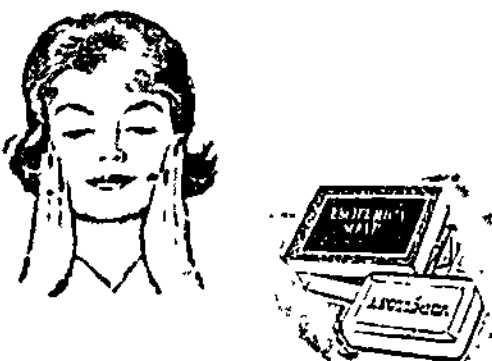

Community leaders in these areas have been urging special consideration because of the poor condition of U.S. 30 and the fact the Wyoming Interstate will be completed from the Nebraska border to Cheyenne by the fall of 1965.

The invitation to Eshkol was included in a message from President Johnson delivered by U.S. Peace Corps Director Sargent Shriver Jan. 7.

Voiding Past Time-Sales Contracts Was Wrong—Moulton

By WILLIAM B. KETTER
United Press International
An Omaha state senator declared here Tuesday the Nebraska Supreme Court "was wrong in going clear back to 1959" in voiding time-sales contracts.
"The Supreme Court," Sen. William Moulton said, "has ruled so that every contract since 1959 is a bone of contention and a controversy." He said he was not criticizing the court's right to declare the act invalid, but he said "it should have applied its decision only to future contracts."
The high court declared the 1959 Installment Sales Act unconstitutional last summer.
Moulton, speaker of the 1963 session, discounted criticism of the 1963 session regarding finance legislation. He said such "attacks" are unwarranted and "completely lacking in truth."
The Omaha lawmaker, who has announced he will not seek re-election, admitted confusion over credit finance legislation was present during the 1963 special session. But he said part of the confusion could be tracked back to the Supreme Court decisions.

Addressing an Omaha Benson High School government class, Moulton said lobbyists are "a necessary part" of the Nebraska legislative process. He said probably more confusion would have reigned during the special session if "finance experts" were not present to explain "the various acts to the Legislature."
Without lobbyists, Moulton said, many lawmakers would not be informed about the technical details of proposed bills, and thus "would vote without any knowledge of what they were voting for."
ANGEL
By Mel Carson

"You're going to get some money and you're going to give me half."

Moulton said education presents the greatest lobby in Nebraska. "And this is time," he added. "I think every interest should have a lobby to explain its position."
Moulton praised the Nebraska one-house system "as the best in the nation." He said he has visited legislatures in 14 other states.
"The only thing wrong with the Nebraska Legislature," he told the students, on a field trip of the Statehouse, "is the work load is too heavy. It's almost impossible."
However, Moulton said he does not favor annual sessions as a remedy. He said this would "not be the answer."

Politics Not Dirty, Governor Avers
Governor Morrison told 250 Omaha Benson High School students Tuesday the concept that politics is dirty is an untrue assumption.
He said it can be a wonderful experience and a chance for every citizen to "fulfill a responsibility to his fellow man." The governor urged the students to enter politics and "find out for yourselves how great and thrilling it can be."

Bartunek Wants Abolition Of State Intangible Taxes
Leo N. Bartunek of Lincoln, candidate for the Republican nomination for governor, recommended Tuesday the abolition of state taxes on intangibles and on household furnishings "as soon as possible."
The administrative and/or collection costs on this type of taxation are all out of proportion to the amount of money actually collected, and are in fact nuisance taxes," he declared in a statement.
"Such taxes act as a deterrent to good saving practices, including the purchasing of adequate furnishings for the family home."

Republicans Attack Anti-Poverty Plans

Washington (AP) — The administration opened its fight in Congress for a broad anti-poverty program Tuesday and promptly ran into sharp Republican criticism.

GOP members of the House Education and Labor Committee said President Johnson's $902.5-million program cuts across existing programs, seeks to revive others that Congress has refused to pass, and gives too much power to Director Sargent Shriver.

Shriver, first witness called by Chairman Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y., gave it an enthusiastic send off. He said the program is well thought out, precisely aimed and could eliminate the worst ill poverty now visits on 35 million Americans.

Means

It seeks to do this through job training for youth, federal support for community action against poverty, direct aid to poor farm dwellers, and a National Service Corps, patterned on the Peace Corps.

Powell said passage this year is essential. Other Democrats on the committee gave it warm support but not the Republicans.

Rep. H. B. Frelinghuysen, R-N.J., expressed concern it would conflict with job training and vocational education programs Congress passed last year.

Rep. Robert Taft, R-Ohio, said the proposed "Job Corps" for 16-to-21-year-old youth seemed similar to a Youth Conservation Corps that has been languishing in the House for two years.

New Gaise

And a "Volunteers for America" proposal, he added, appeared to be last year's Domestic Peace Corps bill, Rep. Frank Thompson Jr., D-N.J., Taft asked, "Is that now dead?"

"It's been critically ill for a long time," replied Thompson. He said he would pursue the same goal through the poverty bill.

Rep. Charles E. Goodell, R-N.Y., said he would try to impose limits on Shriver's authority.

LeRoy is married and has three children.

Elks Defend Tax Status On 13th & P Location

Representatives of the Elks Lodge appeared before the Lancaster County Board of Equalization Tuesday to defend the lodge's tax-exemption status on approximately half of the lodge building at 13th and P.

Attorney John Mason pointed out that the fraternal and benevolent group is asking exemption on only the second and third floors of the building and the secretary's office on the first floor.

This constitutes about 52 8% of the usable area which can be classified as used for combined educational, charitable and religious purposes, he said.

Not the Rest

He noted that the club is not seeking tax exemption on the remainder of the first floor which includes the dining and bar facilities and on the basement which is primarily used for recreational purposes.

Lancaster County Assessor Arthur Davis has recommended that the entire building be put on the tax rolls. None of it has been taxed previously and no valuation has been set on it.

Officers cited to the board many of the "charitable, benevolent and patriotic purposes" of the lodge, including scholarships, providing for eyeglasses, crutches and wheelchairs for the aged, sports leagues for youth, honoring outstanding scholars and athletes, sponsoring youth to various camps, conferences and Boys and Girls State.

Provide For Welfare

They also noted the annual Christmas Party for Lincoln youth — calling it one of the ways in which they "provide

The State Department of Roads has turned down efforts of East O businessmen to obtain openings in the O St. median at 54th and 26th.

However, he said, the officials agreed to extend a median south on 54th from O only to a mid-block point.

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Do gentlemen really prefer blondes? Do blondes have more fun? Why do men act so silly over girls with hair that is bleached until it looks like straw? Wouldn't they rather see a natural redhead, or a girl with shining black hair, or chestnut-colored hair with golden highlights? Why do men rave over a girl just because she has blonde hair? I would like to know the answer to this, and so would a lot of other women.

NO DYE HARD

DEAR NO: Men like hair that is (a) clean, (b) well-groomed, (c) fragrant, (d) shiny, and (e) soft. If it is all of these things, men don't care whether it's black, brown or gray. I know a girl who has been both blonde and brunette, and she didn't have any more fun as a blonde.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I and another couple went to a dinner show at a night club. Our income requires that we budget carefully. My husband and I ordered the least expensive dinners, and one drink apiece. The other couple ordered the most expensive dinners and they each had four drinks. When the waiter brought the check, the other man just divided it in half and said, "Your share is $19.90." The floor show was on at the time, so my husband said nothing and paid up. On the way home he told the other man that he had some money coming, and explained why. The man became indignant and said, "If you can't afford an evening out, you should stay home." Of course he was wrong, but how could this have been avoided?

FRIENDSHIP RUINED

DEAR RUINED: When you ordered, your husband should have asked the waiter to make up separate checks.

DEAR ABBY: Last week I was a witness in court. As I approached the witness stand this 65- or 70-year-old judge shouted at me, "Say, if you're gonna testify in this court, speak loud and with respect!" Then he fell back in his chair, put his feet up on his desk about six inches from my face, and lay back like he was dead. While I was talking, he suddenly jerked his feet off his desk, sat erect in his chair and shouted at the top of his voice, "SPEAK LOUDER!" Do you think I should send this judge a bed and a hearing aid?

WITNESS

DEAR WITNESS: "Judge not, that ye be not judged." Matthew 7:1.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "TRUE FRIEND IN MARIETTA, GA.": Listen to the advice of your father. A 17-year-old divorcee is not fit company for you. Papa knows best.

FUN NEWS IN SUBURBIA

COTNER TERRACE

Running a household is a lot like a television show in some respects. There is a director, producer, and occasionally—when all the children congregate in the kitchen for cookies—a cast of thousands.

Any homemaker will tell you that there are even commercials, such as "Dinner's ready," or "Darling, why don't you put up the screens?"

Sometimes, the carefully regulated schedule of the home is disrupted for a special program, such as guests, trips, or a party, but we are positive that the ratings on these events are quite high, and no one minds the summer re-runs.

With nice weekend weather, it isn't hard to imagine how many people took to the highways to relax and get away from things for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. John C. Krecklow, for instance, drove to Murdock Sunday for a brief visit with Mrs. Krecklow's sister, Miss Frieda Wehrmann. They returned home Sunday evening.

Two more Cotner Terrace families had seven-league boots this weekend. Among them were Mr. and Mrs. Dwaine Karr and their children, Steven and Karen, who motored to Beaver Crossing Sunday to the home of Mrs. Karr's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Mull. They were just in time to celebrate Beaver Crossing's basketball championship with a dinner at the Mull's home.

Our other traveling family foursome included Mr. and Mrs. James Carroll and their daughters, Jane and Susan who on Friday, had as their destination, Estherville, Iowa, where they were the guests of Mr. Carroll's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Carroll.

The Carroll family returned to Lincoln Sunday evening.

Pitch was the key word at the home of Mrs. Darrell Karr Tuesday evening when her Pitch Club met. Guests for the evening of cards and a late dessert were Mrs. Robert Allen, Mrs. Larry Emery, Mrs. Ray Martin, Mrs. Norman Hoveling, Mrs. Glen Stevens, and Mrs. John Drake.

Weekend visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Schlegelmilch and their children, Scott and Todd, were Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Journey and their daughter, Jacki, of Brady, who arrived Friday evening and departed for home Saturday evening.

The state basketball tournament drew many people to Lincoln, and also several guests to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Beranek and their sons, Leonard and Dennis.

From Thursday morning until Saturday, their guests were Cynthia Priyhl, Erma Jean Priyhl, Margie Halama, and Diane Pavelka of Milligan, who had come to cheer their team.

On Thursday, Mrs. Beranek's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Kassik and their two sons Michael and Dan, and Milton Stastny, all of Milligan, were the houseguests of Mr. and Mrs. Beranek and family.

St. Patrick's Day did not escape the watchful eye of Nancy Henninger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Henninger. Nancy was hostess at

Around The Town

There is news from here and there this morning—The 'here' has to do with a home-comer, Mrs. Don Stewart, who is back in town after a six weeks stay in California. Mrs. Stewart went first to San Marino where she spent some time with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Stewart and their family. From San Marino Mrs. Stewart went to La Jolla where she visited with numerous old friends.

Then we learned that Mr. and Mrs. Richard Lilly returned home on Monday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Lilly had been vacationing in Palm Springs, Calif., where there was more or less a family reunion. Mr. Lilly's brothers and sisters-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Lilly of Colorado Springs, Colo., and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Lilly of Los Angeles, joined Mr. and Mrs. Lilly in Palm Springs for their holiday.

En route home Mr. and Mrs. Lilly spent a week in what might be considered 'home away from home' for Lincoln residents — Scottsdale, Ariz.

In the 'there' department is news from Madison, Wis., and it involves the arrival of a Phi Kappa Psi legacy. Mark Woods Haecker, on Saturday, March 14, Young Mark is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Foster Woods Haecker, and his mother is the former Marcia Wolfe, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Wilson Wolfe of Ottumwa, Iowa.

Mrs. George Haecker of Lincoln is the paternal grandmother, and also in the family circle are the baby's paternal great-grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Earle Foster.

And more of the 'there' news which will be of interest to numerous Lincoln people comes from California. In the morning mail were invitations to the wedding of Miss Lisle Logan-Jones, daughter of Mrs. Carlisle Logan-Jones of Glendale, Calif., and the late Mr. Logan-Jones, and Dennis Neil Imbach.

The wedding will take place at the Missionary Church in Van Nuys, Calif., on Friday evening, April 3.

Back home again—and word of a Thursday morning event. We hear there is to be a 10 o'clock coffee at the home of Mrs. Kenneth Cobb.

The party is by way of celebrating the fact that Mrs. Cobb was named the outstanding Alpha Phi alumna at the sorority's banquet last Saturday evening in Omaha, and to welcome the new Alpha Phi housemother, Mrs. Lola Best of Broken Bow.

The guest list included the Alpha Phi alumnae officers and members of the board of directors.

Gift Celebrates Anniversary

Wednesday, March 18, 1964 The Lincoln Star 9

Members of the Lincoln Hadassah, (from the left) Mrs. Leo Hill, Mrs. Marion Graetz and Mrs. Nate E. Bernstein, called on Gov. Frank Morrison on Tuesday to present him with a gift—a handcarved plaque of olive wood — made by refugee children in Israel.

The presentation, which is being made this week to the governors of all 50 states, marks the 30th anniversary of the Youth Aliyah movement, originated in 1934 when Henrietta Szold, the founder of Hadassah, engineered the migration of the first group of 43 Jewish children from Hitler Germany into Palestine. Since then, more than 110,000 children from 72 countries have been rehabilitated and educated in Israel.

This year also will mark the 16th anniversary of Child's Day for Youth Aliyah on March 22, an international event observed by Christians and Jews to commemorate the murder by the Nazis of more than one million Jewish children. The celebration of Child's Day has become the major fund-raising means of supporting the Youth Aliyah, which this year is expecting 5,000 immigrant children from North Africa, east European lands and the middle East, over and above the 12,000 refugee children already in residence in Israel.

Opening lead — five of spades.

It takes a certain amount of luck to win a national championship, regardless of whether or not you play well, and my partner Mrs. Dorothy Hayden and I had a good share of it when we won the Blue Ribbon Pairs played in Miami Beach last December.

This was a new event restricted to the top 60 life masters and a limited number of other players who had done well during the past year in national or regional championships. There were 84 pairs in the contest.

We were lucky on this hand where South played at four hearts doubled. Mrs. Hayden (West) led a spade. I took the ace and returned a spade which declarer ruffed.

Declarer led the queen of hearts which Mrs. Hayden took with the king. She led another spade which declarer ruffed, thus reducing South's trump holding to the J-10-9, while West still had the A-7-6.

When declarer now played the nine of hearts, Mrs. Hayden won the ace and exited with a diamond. Declarer took it and cashed three high clubs and another diamond, but, being forced then to play a diamond, he could not prevent Mrs. Hayden from taking the setting trick with a trump.

Actually, declarer could have made the contract against any line of defense. Thus, when Mrs. Hayden led the third round of spades at trick four and South ruffed, declarer could have made ten tricks by cashing three clubs and two diamonds and then playing a trump from dummy. This line of play could have been justified by assuming that West had started with four trumps.

Nor could West defeat the contract by ducking the queen of hearts when it was led at trick three. Declarer could make the same assumption that West had four hearts, and could cash three clubs and two diamonds and continue with a heart to make the contract.

It was our good luck that declarer did not see the winning line of play.

Altrusa Club Has Elections

Mrs. Phil Darby was elected president of the Altrusa Club of Lincoln on Monday evening, when the group met for dinner at the Hotel Lincoln.

Other new officers are Mrs. Willard N. Dunigan, vice president; Mrs. Edna Broderson, recording secretary; Miss Willa Mae Ray, corresponding secretary; Miss Ruby C. Wilder, treasurer; Mrs. Arthur Hagan and Mrs. Keith Canfield, directors.

The club also appointed Mrs. Fran Walters as its representative on the board of directors of Pioneer Housing, which is sponsored by the organization.

Confident Woman 'Takes Off'

Oakland, Calif. (AP)—A confident young woman pilot took off in a second-hand plane Tuesday on the trail of Amelia Earhart, hoping to be the first woman to fly alone around the world.

Joan A. Merriam, 27-year-old test pilot from Long Beach, Calif., insisted she was not racing Jerrie Mock, 38-year-old housewife of Columbus, Ohio, who plans to start from Port Columbus Wednesday on a globe-grinding route that is 3,000 miles shorter.

In her own "58 aircraft, almost like brand new," the diminutive blonde Californian took off at 1:01 p.m. PST on a four-hour flight to Tucson, Ariz.

It was the first of 20 hops on a schedule that would take her 27,000 miles from Oakland back to Oakland, where she is due April 14.

"Not Daredevil"

"I'm not the daredevil type," the veteran 5-foot, 3-inch pilot said. She told of 16 months of planning with the aid of her husband, Navy Lt. Cmdr. Marvin G. (Jack) Smith Jr., now in Japanese waters in command of the mine sweeper Endurance.

Under her bright green scarf she wore a silver four leaf clover and two St. Christopher medals, one with the Star of David on the other side. Mrs. Smith, or Miss Merriam as she prefers when flying, said as far as she is concerned it's no contest with Mrs. Mock.

"I just want to complete a page of history" that Amelia Earhart was writing when she vanished over the Pacific Ocean in 1937 on a world flight. The Merriam flight is over the same route.

Miss Merriam, who learned to fly at 15 before she could drive a car, is a professional pilot with 8,200 accident-free flight hours. She has been dreaming of this flight for seven years.

It was just seven years ago that Mrs. Mock got her flying license. She now has passed 750 flying hours.

City Hires Planners To Update Housing Code

A planning consultant's services will be used to modernize the city's minimum housing code and prepare a "workable program" for Lincoln.

The City Council has authorized fees up to $800 to Harland Bartholomew & Associates of St. Louis for this work.

The consulting firm will review the city's building codes, its zoning codes and the 1956 minimum housing standards code as to conformity with federal standards for such a program.

This program is required by the Federal Home and Housing Agency (FHHA) in certification of the city's eligibility for below-market loan money for low-cost housing.

Enforcement Procedures

The workable program also requires enforcement procedures of minimum housing code, neighborhood analysis of substandard housing areas, plans for housing displaced persons, and a citizen's advisory group.

The Home Builders Association of Lincoln, Lincoln Housing Authority and the Mayor's Council on Human Relations have urged the code be updated, enforced and used to correct substandard dwelling areas in the city.

Mayor Dean Petersen recommended a consultant be employed in preparation of a workable program because the city's planning department is engaged in the regional traffic study in addition to its regular work and hasn't sufficient manpower.

Must Be Changed

Planning Director Douglas Brogden said indications are the minimum housing code must be changed in some areas to meet federal requirements for a workable program, but the zoning, building, electrical and plumbing codes should be sufficient.

The minimum housing code of 1956 has been enforced as to new dwelling units and conversions, but has not been enforced as to dwellings in existence prior to 1956.

BALTIMORE EXPLOSION KILLS ONE

Baltimore (AP)—One person was killed and four firemen were injured Tuesday when an explosion and eight-alarm fire rocked a south Baltimore chemical plant.

Five firemen and a civilian were injured when a car struck a pumping truck rushing to the fire.

None of the injuries was believed serious.

Ford Wilson, resident manager of the Fairfield Chemical Division of the Food, Machinery and Chemical Co., identified the dead man as an employee.

Wilson said the victim was working in Building 92 when it exploded in flames visible for 10 miles.

Wilson said the building houses what he called a chlorine reactor.

Nearby plant buildings turn out rocket and jet fuel and poisonous gases as well as classified material for the U.S. government, a fire department spokesman said.

Although the poisonous gases were not identified, their potency was such that two nearby hospitals called in special staffs.

Boycott Reaffirmed

Aberdeen, Scotland (AP)—mercer and others interested in promoting trade. The council's Labor Party majority affirmed its boycott of South Africa goods despite protests from the Chamber of Commerce and segregation.

POSTCARD by

Star Delaplano

Spring is now trembling on the brink and there are robins at the bottom of my garden. This is a poetic way of putting it. And I put it that way because I am a poet. Matter of fact, these robin migrations come because of a blooming berry.

The robins eat the blooming berries and they ferment in the little robin stomach. The robin has a built-in still. When the berries become rife whiskey, the robin is drunk as a lord.

This is ladies' club time. When two ladies meet, it is a club. A ladies' club is devoted to giving dances. Devoted to being charitable to mankind.

Most ladies' clubs are for charity. I think because charity is a hard thing to knock. Bum-rapping charity is like knocking mom's apple pie. A lady inside the charity cocoon is safe.

The ladies meet at each other's houses. They have a couple of before lunch belts of the old cooking sherry. A lunch of something in aspic. "Ladies will now come to order," says madame president.

From there on, everything is chaos, Mac.

Well, here is Spring. The robins are loaded. The ladies are flushed with sherry. And your roving correspondent is roving the kitchen for the lemon extract.

Your roving correspondent has been ordered to rove upstairs.

Also banished from sight is the portable typewriter. The blotter on the desk has been removed. "Because that color simply does not match the room."

The tape recorder has been unhooked and removed. The dictionary, Fowler's English Usage, A Treasury of Golden Memories and the World Almanac have been given the deep six into drawers.

If ladies came to the club meeting and saw this commercial gear, we would all die of shame.

When ladies come to club meetings, they should find the house smothered in spring flowers. (The florist shall have his new Cadillac this blooming Spring.)

The coffee table has a few bright magazines like "Call-fornia Home"—a book which tells you how to make the scatter more heavenly.

The matches were lifted from a swank New York hotel. It shows we hang out in the right places.

Charity, I note, always winds up in a dance. A costume dance. Harvest dances where we all come dressed as farmers. Circus dances where we all come dressed like the Flying Wallendas. And feel like clowns.

The meeting being concluded—"a lovely lunch, my dear"—all hands will go home and instruct their husbands how to make this dance a success.

"Now, here is a book of tickets. They're only $10.50 a piece, so don't look like that. And there are only 10 to sell. Of course, you can sell them. Where? Why all those places you eat lunch. I'm sure those people spend that much on cocktails."

Each gent will also be informed that if she, the club-member, did not have to slave like a dog on household labor saving devices, she would sell these tickets in a flash.

Medical Views On Cigarettes Clash

Washington (AP) — The Federal Trade Commission pondered Tuesday seemingly conflicting views between medical groups on the value of labeling cigarettes as health hazards.

The American Cancer Society told the FTC that some 100 Americans died each day from lung cancer caused by cigarette smoking and some 500 more are dying daily from other smoking-linked diseases.

Dr. Wendell Scott, president of the society, said cautionary labels on cigarette packages and advertising, as the FTC proposes, would go far in enhancing educational programs against cigarette smoking.

But the American Medical Association has told the commission in a statement it doesn't believe the health hazard labeling is necessary. It said in part:

cautionary labeling cannot be anticipated to serve the public interest with any particular degree of success. The health hazards of excessive smoking have been well publicized for more than 10 years and are common knowledge.

"Labeling will not alert even the young cigarette smoker to any risks of which he is not already aware. While labeling may influence the purchaser in the choice he makes in the purchase of many products, it will not, in our opinion, do so in the purchase of cigarettes."

FTC Commissioner A. Everett MacIntyre said he is somewhat perplexed by the AMA's stand in the face of Scott's endorsement Tuesday of the proposed regulation.

Scott told the commission, "Educational efforts cannot be effective if cigarette advertising continues unimpeded."

Yet, questioned about the AMA statement which he hadn't seen, Scott said he didn't think there was a conflict between the AMA and the cancer society on the matter.

The AMA, he said, is planning a research program into the effects of smoking to satisfy some questions.

The medical mind is a little more conservative than the ordinary mind, and might believe the labeling not to be effective, preferring to wait for the results of additional research, Scott said. There is "no real conflict here," he added.

In his statement, Scott cited a recent survey of 56,000 doctors in which three-fourths of them said they didn't smoke. The numbers of non-smoking doctors would have an effect in time on others who smoke, he said.

Brother And Sister Latest Victims Of 'Mysterious Ailment'

Wednesday, March 18, 1964 The Lincoln Star 13

By JOE MCGOWAN JR.
St. Augustine, Fla. (AP) — A teen-age brother and sister who died two hours apart may be the latest victims of a mysterious, deadly ailment which took the life of their sister and five other relatives in two generations.

The family doctor said Tuesday that the ailment might be a congenital heart defect. He said he had no other explanation for the deaths Monday of Edward Ambrose Martin, 15, and his sister, Angella Diane, 14.

Eddie, a husky, dark-haired sophomore at St. Joseph High School, collapsed after running only 200 yards of a mile-and-a-half cross-country run matching athletes from all the city's high schools.

Diane, who was at home recovering from mumps, appeared to go into shock when her parents told her that her brother had died. She was rushed to a hospital, where breathing was restored once, but doctors couldn't keep her alive.

Another sister, Penny, 9, was found dead in shallow water in 1957 where she had been wading during a family outing. The cause of her death was never determined.

The parents, Mr. and Mrs. Beauregard Archie Martin, have three surviving children: Archie, Thomas and Nancy. Martin is a postal employee.

Dr. James J. Devito, the Martin family doctor, said, "Several other members of the family have expired suddenly, with no known cause to date. Five children from two sisters and three adults have been stricken under similar circumstances in two generations."

Devito said the bodies of the two Martin children were sent Tuesday to the University of Florida Medical School at Gainesville where it was hoped a pathological examination might reveal the cause of the deaths.

"The boy apparently died immediately," Devito said. "When his sister was told, she went into a seizure. We were able to get heart action back, but after an hour and a half she did not respond."

Eddie, who had played "B" team football, was described by a coach as "an average athlete, but with all the ambition in the world. He really tried."

Diane was a student at Cathedral Parish School. "She was one of the most helpful children we had," one of the sisters said. "She was active in Our Lady of Good Counsel group which worked to help missions in other countries."

One sister, who asked that her name not be used, said, "I taught Diane. She was an excellent student. Both she and Edward were very bright and intelligent. They were both quiet children and a great help around the school."

Diane had been practicing for the school's annual St. Patrick's Day program. She would have been a dancer. But last Thursday she developed mumps and had to drop out of classes.

"She was keeping up with her studies," the sister said. "In fact, she called a girl friend at 4 o'clock Monday afternoon to get the home-work assignment. Three hours later she was dead."

Coach Bert Lewis of the Florida School for the Deaf and Blind said the cross-country race started on his school's campus.

"I was 200 yards away from him after the start of the race," Lewis said. "I was in an area where I couldn't see the boy, but one of the teachers saw him fall."

"I ran down there. He was out, like he had passed out. We tried mouth-to-mouth respiration and heart massage. The Catholic schools where the brother and sister attended were dark Tuesday night. The planned gay St. Patrick's program was called off and the two faculties and student bodies went into mourning with the Martin family.

A sister said junior and senior students at St. Joseph would sing Requiem Mass for Eddie and Diane.

The double funeral was tentatively planned for 10 a.m. Thursday.

Feasibility Of Merging OPPD With Eastern To Be Studied

Omaha Public Power District and Eastern Nebraska Public Power District Tuesday announced their decision to study the feasibility of a merger of the two districts.

The two power agencies have engaged the services of Stone and Webster Service Corporation of New York to study the proposition, the expense to be borne jointly between the two districts.

The question of a merger arose as a result of boundary negotiations between OPPD and Eastern.

OPP General Manager E. E. Schwalm of Omaha told an informal statewide power industry committee of the proposal.

Will Be Submitted

When the study is completed, the report will be submitted to the boards of directors of the two districts before any further action is taken.

OPP is a $193 million operation serving 130,000 customers in nine counties.

Eastern is an $8 million operation, serving 8,000 customers in seven counties.

The service areas of the two districts are adjacent and overlapping in Otoe, Cass and Saunders Counties.

function on "an engineering and planning level," Boyd said, in order to "coordinate long-range planning."

It will hold regular meetings every other month.

Ceased To Exist

The new committee was formulated to replace the defunct Nebraska Public Power Committee, a 9-member industry body created by the 1961 Legislature. NPPC ceased to exist last October.

Boyd offered a suggested program of action which foresees the presentation of long-range planning reports by all segments of the electric utility industry.

These reports would include projected load estimates, immediate or future plans, tentative plans which might be considered and all alternatives.

Family Strengths, Weaknesses Will Be Keynote Topic

"Strengths and weaknesses of the family" will be the topic of a keynote speech to be given by Dr. John Chantigny of Detroit, Mich., at a human development and family relations workshop at the Nebraska Center Wednesday and Thursday.

The workshop is sponsored by the University of Nebraska and the Nebraska Council of Family Relations.

Dr. Chantigny is family and society program leader at the Merrill-Palmer Institute at Detroit.

BEATLES UNWANTED

Jerusalem, Israeli Sector government committee said the season will have performers of "far greater artistic value than the Beatles" and their shows might not be suitable for teenage audiences.

New Power Committee Open To All

Membership in the informal public power industry committee which organized itself at the request of the Nebraska Power Review Board will be open to all public agencies engaged in the electric business.

Membership in the group—which named itself the Nebraska Power Industry Committee—was thrown wide open in a closed-door discussion of recommended rules and by-laws.

Chairman Jack Boyd of Holdrege, general manager of the Central Nebraska Public Power and Irrigation District, briefed newsmen following the session.

To Meet April 20

The committee will meet in Lincoln April 20 to consider further recommendations to be submitted by a new subcommittee yet to be named by Boyd.

One of the subcommittee's tasks, Boyd said, is to consider how the industry committee can form within itself "a smaller working group representative of all phases of the electric industry."

The open membership provision adopted Tuesday "could mean there will be 200 or 300 member organizations," Boyd noted.

The committee decided to function on "an engineering and planning level," Boyd said, in order to "coordinate long-range planning."

It will hold regular meetings every other month.

PIN-WORMS

AND NOT KNOW IT

Fidgeting, nose-picking, a tormenting rectal itch are often telltale signs of Pin-Worms, tiny parasites that medical experts say infect 1 out of every 3 persons examined. Entire families may be victims and not know it. To get rid of Pin-Worms, they must be killed in the large intestine where they live and multiply. That's exactly what Jayne's P-W tablets do... and here's how they do it:

First—a scientific coating carries the tablets into the bowels before they dissolve. Then—Jayne's modern, medically-approved ingredient goes right to work—kills Pin-Worms quickly and easily.

Don't take chances with dangerous, highly contagious Pin-Worms which infect entire families. Get genuine Jayne's P-W Vermifuge, small, easy-to-take tablets... special sizes for children and adults.

You'll never know how much a car can do for you ...until you test-drive a Rambler!

Rambler Classic gives you more useful room—Inside, the Rambler Classic is a big car, with full, uncrowded legroom, hiproom and headroom for six lanky 6-footers. The doors curve up into the roof so that you can get in and get out easily without hunching.

Fights rust best—Only Rambler Deep-Dips car bodies up to the roof in rustproofing compound to protect nooks and crannies spraying misses.

Out-maneuvers other makes—Sharp turning diameter lets a Rambler Classic run circles inside smaller cars, out-maneuver them in traffic.

Parks where others can't—Rambler Classic's trim size lets you ease into spots others pass by.

Out-does costlier cars in luxury—Shift-Command Flash-O-Matic that lets you shift manually, or it shifts by itself—Twin-Stuck Floor Shift with console—Adjust-O-Tilt 7-position steering wheel—AM/FM and stereo-effect radios... a few Rambler options!

Stops when others might not—Rambler Double-Safety Brakes have separate front and rear systems; if one is damaged, other works.

Relaxes you incomparably—Nothing can compare with Rambler reclining seats for comfort. Optional with regular seats, individually adjustable or bucket seats. Headrests, too!

Saves on gas and upkeep—Rambler is famed for gas economy. Extended lubrication periods, lubed-for-life parts reduce upkeep.

Stays solid, silent, smooth—Rambler's Advanced Unit Construction is a major breakthrough in car building—solid and quiet, with no body bolts to loosen, rattle or squeak.

Offers extra features at no extra cost!

Roof Rack is standard on Rambler Classic wagons—extra on other makes—just one saving. Don't buy any car 'til you drive it. Test the best at your Rambler dealer!

All 4 Semifinalists Could Take Crown

... NCAA COACHES CONFIDENT

Kansas City (AP) — If you listen to the coaches talk, any one of the four teams in the NCAA basketball championships here this weekend could win the title.

"With the field that's assembled, any one of the four could win it," Coach John Wooden of unbeaten UCLA, said in a four-way telephone interview Tuesday.

Never The Same

"And if, after this tourney is over," the boss of the nation's No. 1 college basketball team continued, "you started all over again, you'd probably have a different winner. If you played it four times, you might have four different winners."

Wooden spoke from Los Angeles. Joining him in the hookup were the coaches of the other teams that will play in Friday night's semifinals, Vic Bubas of Duke and Dave Strack of Michigan.

Each spoke from his home campus, where he's putting final touches on tourney preparations, and each said he felt his team had a good shot at picking up all the marbles. None has ever won the tourney before.

Here's a sampling of their comments:

Atlantic Coast Champ Bubas, whose Duke Blue Devils won the Atlantic Coast Conference title and, with a 25-4 record, were No. 3 nationally.

"We're a more confident team now than we were earlier. Our scoring balance is better and we're a little better off defensively. We've got a good shot at winning it."

Strack, whose Michigan team was co-champion of the Big Ten, has a 22-4 record and finished No. 2 in the poll.

"We've been honed on real good competition. We have rebounding and reserve strength. We're used to winning now. We're going into this with respect for everyone and fear of no one."

Win Streak

Winter, whose Kansas State Wildcats won the Big Eight Conference title and, with a 22-5 record, were No. 4 nationally.

"We're as good as any ball club that's going to be there."

Wooden, whose unbeaten UCLA team is rated tops in the nation with a 28-0 mark and has to be considered the tourney favorite.

"The caliber of the teams gets closer at each higher level of competition."

At this level, there isn't much separating them. Nothing could be considered an upset. Being No. 1 doesn't have a great deal of bearing on it. Our boys were pressing to finish the season undefeated. They did it. Now we feel we're starting a new season."

The Friday night semifinal pairings have Duke playing Michigan in the first game and Kansas State against UCLA in the second. The winners meet for the title Saturday night in the Kansas City Municipal Auditorium with the losers playing a preliminary for third place.

Illness almost prevented Dennis Albers from making the trip last weekend to the Big Eight gymnastics meet in Ames, Iowa.

Just before departing last Thursday, Albers reported in feeling a little woozy. But doctors told coach Jake Geier it would be all right to take him even though he was very weak.

It was a good thing. For Albers came through with five wins to pace the Cornhuskers to the title.

"He warmed up for only about ten minutes before the meet whereas he usually takes about an hour," Geier said.

He added:

"In the finals he performed to the highest of his ability but his routines were not as sharp as they can be."

Albers' 80.5 points led Nebraska individuals who piled up 203.5 points for the championship. Iowa State finished second with 144.5 points.

Albers won the floor exercise, side horse, tumbling, long horse and all-around events competition.

Thurmond Sets Long-Talk Record In Debating Rights

Washington (AP)—Sen. Strom Thurmond, D-S.C., set a long-talk record in the Senate's current civil rights debate Tuesday amid signs that the first vote will be delayed until next week. It had been expected this week.

Thurmond, the 12th of 19 Southern senators planning to speak at length against the legislation, surpassed the 1961 record of just under four hours set last week by Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., and went right on talking.

At 5:30 p.m. CST Thurmond ended his speech of 5 hours and 40 minutes and immediately called for a quorum. It took 24 minutes to round up the required 51 senators.

Then another Southern opponent of the bill, Sen. B. Everett Jordan, D-N.C., began what he said would be a speech of less than an hour.

Editorials

Jordan's speech was devoted almost entirely to reading editorials from newspapers in his state about civil rights demonstrations which have taken place there and similar topics.

After Jordan finished, the Senate recessed.

As usual only three or four senators could be seen as Thurmond hammered away at the motion that has been pending in eight days of debate — whether to take up the controversial House-passed civil rights measure.

Thurmond contended, "They are railroading through this bill." He declared it would destroy both individual and civil liberties.

A prediction that the first vote won't come until next week was made by Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois after talks with Democratic leader Mike Mansfield of Montana — who made the motion to take up the bill — and with Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., leader of the Southern opponents.

But Dirksen noted that the Southern Democrats banded together against the bill still haven't had their say on Mansfield's motion. The GOP leader said he understands all 19 will insist on talking about it.

However, the bill still will have to clear another hurdle before the Senate can start work on the legislation itself, Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., plans to call up his motion to send the bill to the Judiciary Committee for 10 days.

Dirksen, who will support the motion, said as of now he feels the Senate is divided evenly on this. However, Democratic leaders say they believe they can defeat it.

Ad Denounced

Before Thurmond spoke, Democratic and Republican supporters of the civil rights bill denounced as full of lies and distortions a full-page advertisement run in several newspapers attacking the bill.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., floor manager for the bill, said, "It would take me hours to set the record straight on this poisonous promotion."

Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel of California, the Republican whip, denounced the ad as "reprehensible, disgraceful and not truthful."

The advertisement was sponsored by the Coordinating Committee for Fundamental American Freedoms, Inc. Humphrey said official federal lobbying reports show the committee received $131,201 through the last six months of 1963, of which $120,000 came from Mississippi. He said its secretary is John C. Satterfield, whom he identified as an attorney for former Gov. Ross Barnett of Mississippi.

Indians Complain Pakistanis Fired At Men All Night

New Delhi, India (AP)—Pakistan soldiers fired throughout the night at Indian positions across the cease-fire line six miles northwest of Rajauri in disputed Kashmir, an official spokesman said Tuesday.

Rajauri is about 60 miles northwest of Jammu city.

He said India has lodged a complaint with U.N. cease-fire observers.

State Tax On Intangibles Under Attack

Omaha (AP)—The president of the Nebraska Bankers Association advocated Tuesday abolishing or reducing Nebraska's intangible taxes.

L. M. Stuckey, Lexington, said it would be an inducement to keep capital from flowing out of the state.

Stuckey testified before the legislative committee on intangible taxation.

"Nebraska is not keeping pace," he said, referring to growth of bank deposits compared with neighboring states.

"There is a capital outflow because of the state's levy on money."

Nebraska charges 25 cents on each $100 in cash and 40 cents a hundred on stocks.

Stuckey said his own bank does not have sufficient funds to meet loan demands and has to borrow $1 million a year from another bank.

"We feel the situation is serious in that we do not have sufficient savings in our own community to make these loans," he said.

Because of the tax, the banker said, money is deposited in states where there is no "penalty."

Dean Kratz, speaking for the Nebraska Savings and Loan League, said elimination of a tax exemption on savings and loan shareholders or depositors also would send money out of the state.

Hearing testimony were Chairman Kenneth Bowen, Red Cloud, and Sens. J. W. Burbach, Crofton; Hal Bridenbach, Dakota City; Terry Carpenter, Scottsbluff, and Michael Russillo, Omaha.

Midwest Governors To Meet In D.C., Try For Contracts

Five midwestern governors and representatives of seven other Midwest states will convene in Washington Friday morning at a meeting called by Gov. Frank Morrison to get more government contracts for this area.

Morrison, chairman of the Midwest Governors' Conference, will preside at the breakfast.

Other governors attending the meeting will be Minnesota Gov. Karl Rolvaag, Indiana Gov. Matthew Welsh, Kansas Gov. John Anderson, and Ohio Gov. James A. Rhodes.

Other states to be represented will be North and South Dakota, Illinois, Missouri, Wisconsin, Michigan and Iowa.

Strong Protest

The midwestern governors already have registered a strong protest that the central region of the U.S. was not given sufficient consideration as the site for a space research center recently located at Boston.

In addition to trying to form a solid bipartisan block to get some government contracts located in the Midwest, the states also will discuss the cattle market price situation. Morrison will leave Lincoln Wednesday afternoon for Washington, and is scheduled to return to Nebraska this weekend.

Hruska Measure 'Would Endanger Farm Legislation'

Omaha (AP)—Sen. George McGovern, D-SD, declared Tuesday passage of the Hruska amendment limiting beef imports would be endangering to all farm legislation.

He told a six-state area meeting of the AFL-CIO committee on political education: "Personally I think the beef import situation is a very serious thing. It is entitled to careful hearings in Congress but we cannot afford to act rashly."

McGovern called the Hruska amendment "highly controversial legislation" and said it is "very dangerous to dicker with the complex international trade situation."

The South Dakotans told the meeting that U.S. delegates soon will open trade talks with members of the European common market.

Earlier labor union members were urged Tuesday to elect 30 liberal congressmen and five liberal senators in 1964.

At Barkan, director of the AFL-CIO Committee on Political Education, told delegates that is what COPE feels is needed for a working majority.

"Our job is to re-elect our friends and add more. There are too many Curtises and too many Cummings in Washington," he said.

"We had a friend in the White House in John F. Kennedy. We have a friend in the White House in Lyndon B. Johnson. We have a friendly Supreme Court.

"But we don't have enough friends in Congress," Barkan said. "It is controlled by Dixiecrats, reactionary Democrats and reactionary Republicans."

Tour Credited For Pan-Am Omaha Office

The Sell Nebraska tour to Europe conducted by Nebraska's First Lady, Mrs. Frank Morrison, last summer has resulted in a decision by Pan-American Airways to open an office in Omaha, it was announced Tuesday.

E. L. Tvetene of Minneapolis, district sales manager for the airlines firm, said the company considered the 1963 Sell Nebraska tour to be one of the most outstanding promotion programs ever put forth by any state or group.

The Pan Am official said that after discussing the matter with Gov. Morrison, they were convinced that travel promotion in Nebraska was going to be a continuing program.

While Pan Am will have a full-time representative developing business in Nebraska and Iowa, it will not have scheduled flights into the Omaha area.

Unconstitutional Bills Should Be Repealed—Bates

C. A. Bates of Lincoln, a candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, said Tuesday night, "The major effort of both political parties in 1964 should be to urge repeal of all unconstitutional bills passed in the 1963 session of the Legislature."

He did not say what bills he was referring to.

In a speech before the Lincoln Pure Food and Water Association, Bates said there are members of the Legislature with "paid positions" as lobbyists for "special interest groups."

He did not say which senators he was referring to.

Bates said that if elected he would veto "any and all bills tainted with special interest and pressure groups."

'Misunderstanding'

Vevey, Switzerland (UPI)—Forty persons were hurt, 10 seriously, when a special train bringing workers from St. Maurice to Vevey collided with an express freight in the railway station here. Railway officials said the accident was caused by a "misunderstanding."

Auburn High Closed Door Policy Reversed

By DEAN TERRILL

Southeast Nebraska Bureau
Auburn — The doors of the high school here will be opened to free tuition students again next fall following an about-face in school board policy.

A steering committee looking toward possible Nebraska County Reorganization recommended the repeal after Auburn had gained but one district since the ban's enactment a year ago. Approximately 80 persons comprised the study group were nearly unanimous in urging the reversal.

"We would have been completely hemmed in by other districts if we had continued," said Supt. Ross Speer, who inherited the policy in his first year here. "We still think we would have been successful though, if Johnson had held on."

Neighboring Johnson had relented on a similar plan shortly before the school year opened, thus obviously cutting into Auburn's leverage. Competition from other surrounding schools further reduced its chances to expand a $675 million valuation through the ban.

But we at least see people to thinking so don't feel it was a complete failure," continued the superintendent. "Our public relations had reached a low ebb but we are showing people now our willingness to plan."

Effective as this school year started, the closed door policy had barred any new high schoolers from beyond the border of District 9. Any student already enrolled was permitted to continue through graduation.

The revision will again admit any student on a free tuition basis. Auburn now has 222 students in its three-year high school, plus the capacity for about 50 more.

Among schools previously restricting non-resident pupils were York, Seward, Crete and Grand Island. The tactic has worked with varying degrees of success, but always presents a problem in public relations.

Steve Allen To Replace Moore

New York — Steve Allen, the veteran television performer, will take over in September as new host of the Columbia Broadcasting System panel show "I've Got A Secret."

The network announced Tuesday that Allen had been signed for the spot vacated by Garry Moore. The show starts its 13th season next fall, with Bill Cullen, Betsy Palmer, Henry Morgan and Bess Myerson as panel members.

Ten Nominated For City Council

At Grand Island
Grand Island (UPI) — A total of 10 candidates for City Council were chosen in a primary election here Tuesday.

Five will be elected April 7. The five-member council will choose a city manager under a plan adopted last year.

The 10 candidates nominated Tuesday were Howard Peterson, Richard Kimman, Donald Bishop, John Ditter, Charlotte Eaton, William Klostermeyer, David Alexander, Warren Giel, James Hale, and Richard Davis.

They were picked from a field of 21 candidates.

DE GAULLE'S DAY BUSY

Mexico City (AP) — French President Charles de Gaulle apparently sought Tuesday to ease any U.S. concern over his Latin American trip as he rushed through a packed schedule on the second day of his Mexican visit.

In a speech at the National Palace, the French leader said any special relations between Mexico and France are not intended "to put an end to or even to diminish the relationships . . . that bind us to our neighbors."

De Gaulle went on to say that French-Mexican relations were a sign "of one of the most important events liable to occur in our era . . . the appearance of Latin America in the foreground of the stage of world affairs."

De Gaulle, wearing civilian clothes, spoke at a luncheon in his honor given by President Adolfo Lopez Mateos. At airport arrival ceremonies Monday, both De Gaulle and Lopez Mateos declared that the French-Mexican alliance was not aimed against anyone.

Lopez Mateos stressed a need of preserving peace and spoke of the dangers of nuclear war in his luncheon talk Tuesday.

The Mexican president is vigorously opposed to nuclear arms tests and the spread of nuclear weapons; his guest is striving to develop a French nuclear force.

Lopez Mateos said, "We do not want our history — as would other nations — to appear a mid atomic radiations. That is why we consider that in this era no one must be neutral. No one can assume a passive attitude facing the danger of a new war. We must all make efforts to maintain International harmony, and peace, and to foster a general and absolute disarmament."

The weather sunny and crisp, De Gaulle launched his second day in Latin America with an unscheduled visit to a home trade fair, the largest of its kind ever held in Mexico.

Accompanied by Foreign Minister Manuel Tello, he continued down the Paseo de la Reforma — much like Paris' Champs Elysees — to the monument to independence called "The Angel." A large crowd watched as he laid a wreath at the base.

De Gaulle again deviated from routine when he left the ceremony. He broke through a protective line of soldiers to shake hands with a dozen or more smiling Mexicans. He was virtually mobbed and security agents had to come to his rescue.

Flying Grandfather Plucked Off Ice Cap

Reykjavik, Iceland (AP) — Max Conrad, American flying grandfather, crash-landed a single-engine plane on the Greenland ice cap Tuesday but was rescued quickly and reported in fine shape.

The 62-year-old veteran of Atlantic and Pacific crossings was ferrying an Italian Procaer Picchio F15 from Italy to Canada when he apparently encountered trouble less than five hours out from his take-off point at Reykjavik.

After he was spotted from the air, a small boat took him off the ice cap. He was then flown in a Royal Danish Air Force amphibious plane to the air base at Narssarsuaq in southern Greenland, according to reports from various sources.

In Washington, the Air Force said it was informed that Conrad walked across a glacier from the wreckage of his plane to board the small boat.

A spokesman at Stewart Air Base in Newburgh, N.Y., reported Conrad in "fine shape" when he reached the Greenland base. The spokesman said a first aid team was on hand but that Conrad needed little attention.

Before his rescue a plane dropped clothing and food to Conrad on the ice cap where the temperature was reported below zero.

Conrad went down on the ice cap after radioing "landing in five minutes." His message was picked up by the control tower at Narssarsuaq.
